JOHN PIERSOL MCCASKEY HIGH SCHOOL

LANCASTER, PENNSYLVANIA

To the Memory of
DONALD B. WITMER
We Dedicate

With great pride and sincere respect, we, the Class of 1954, dedicate our yearbook to Donald B. Witmer, who as assistant principal for the first one and a half years of our high school experience led us with a kind and faithful hand.

Mr. Witmer passed away on April 2, 1953, shortly after being named principal-elect of McCaskey High School. His absence was felt keenly by the McCaskey family.

For twenty-four years Mr. Witmer had served Lancaster schools as a teacher and administrator. In 1929 he became a teacher in Lancaster Boys High School. When McCaskey was completed in 1938, he was elected assistant principal. Although he seldom addressed the student body as a whole, nevertheless Mr. Witmer's thoughtfulness and consideration were felt by those students who sought his help.

Through the years Mr. Witmer always took an active interest in the extra-curricular program of the school. Because of this interest, he acted as adviser for the McCaskey Student Council and also for the Southern District of Student Councils.

We will always remember this kind man as one who was a friend and counselor to all.

• FOREWORD •

Television, a modern miracle, has taken its place in the world during our lifetime. We have seen it become a medium by which recreational and educational ideas are conveyed to many people. For all the programs that are seen on television, many hours of planning and rehearsing must be spent.

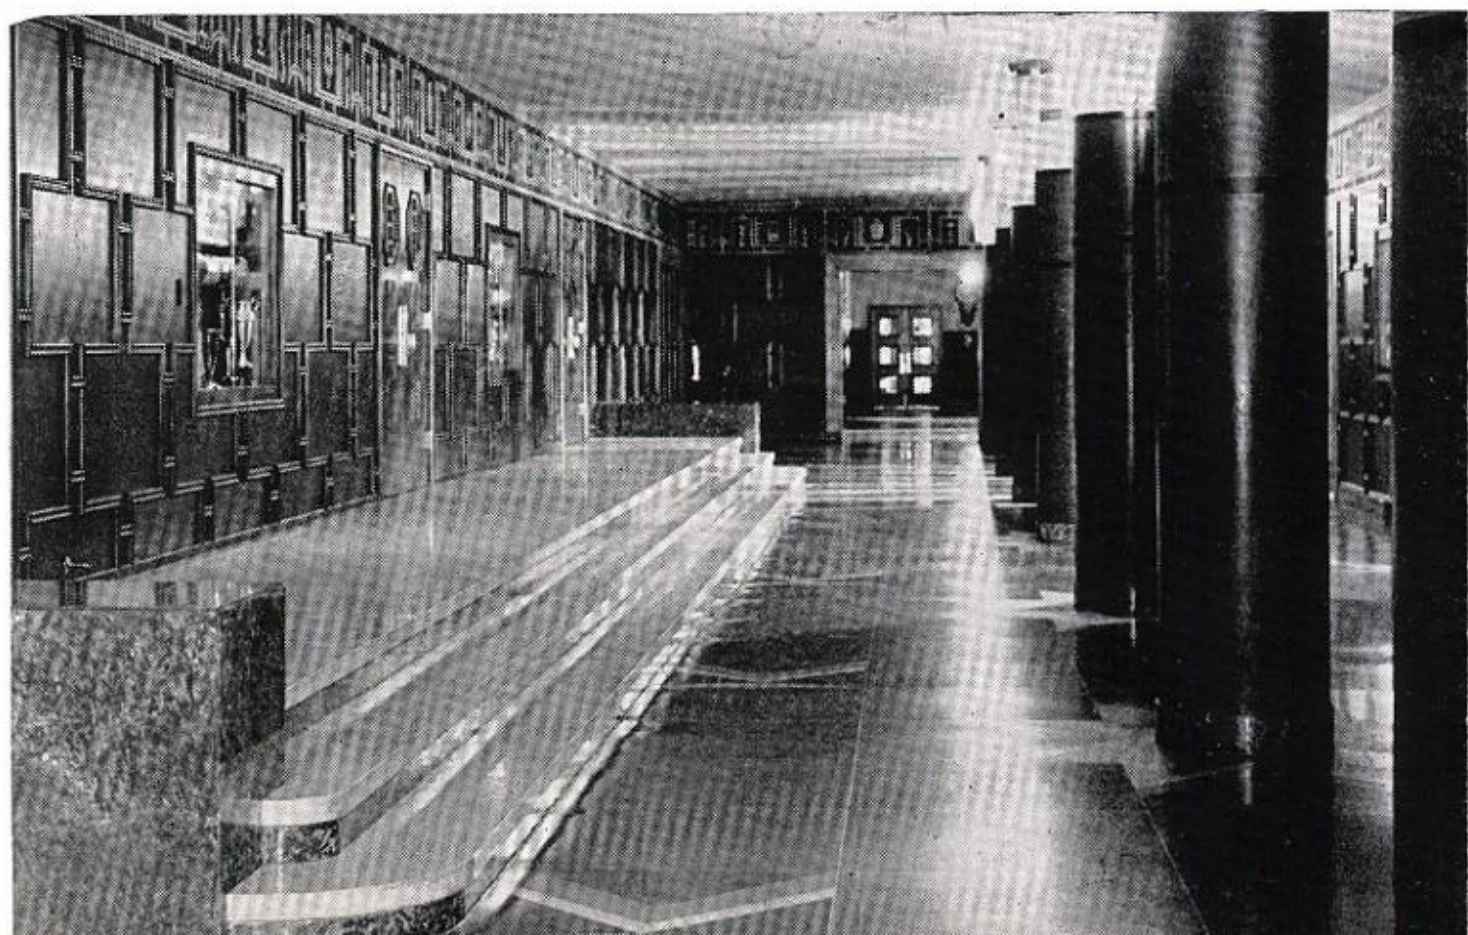

We, as high school graduates, are planning a program. Ours, however, will be much larger than average, for it will be our own lives. The rehearsing and learning of our roles has gone on for the past twelve years. We have been carefully taught so that the productions of our lives may be as worthy as those which have gone before us.

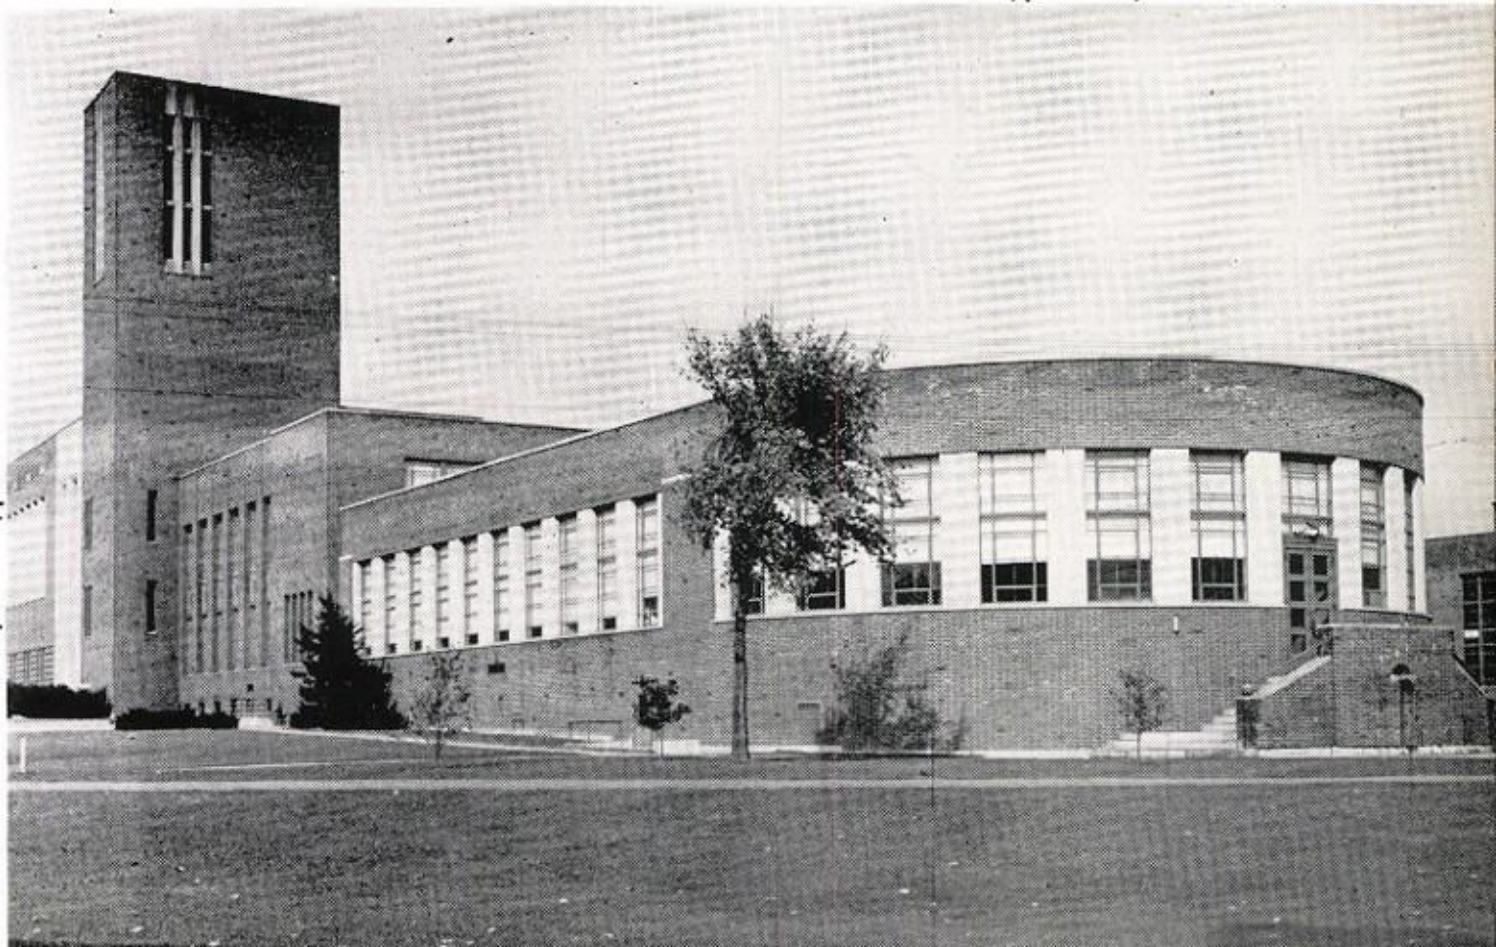

The peace of the world and the preservation of it for our children depend on how well we meet the high standards modern-day living demands. Just as television is always striving to give the public new and better programs, so we must strive to the best of our ability to make our lives better, fuller, and richer. Then when sound and picture are dying away and the end of the show is drawing near, we can look back with pride, knowing that our undertaking was a success.

ALMA MATER

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
As we sing our grateful song.
Proud are we for thee and prouder
That to Lancaster we belong.
School days filled with joy and laughter
Soon will be a memory.
May they teach us to be braver
As we face our destiny.

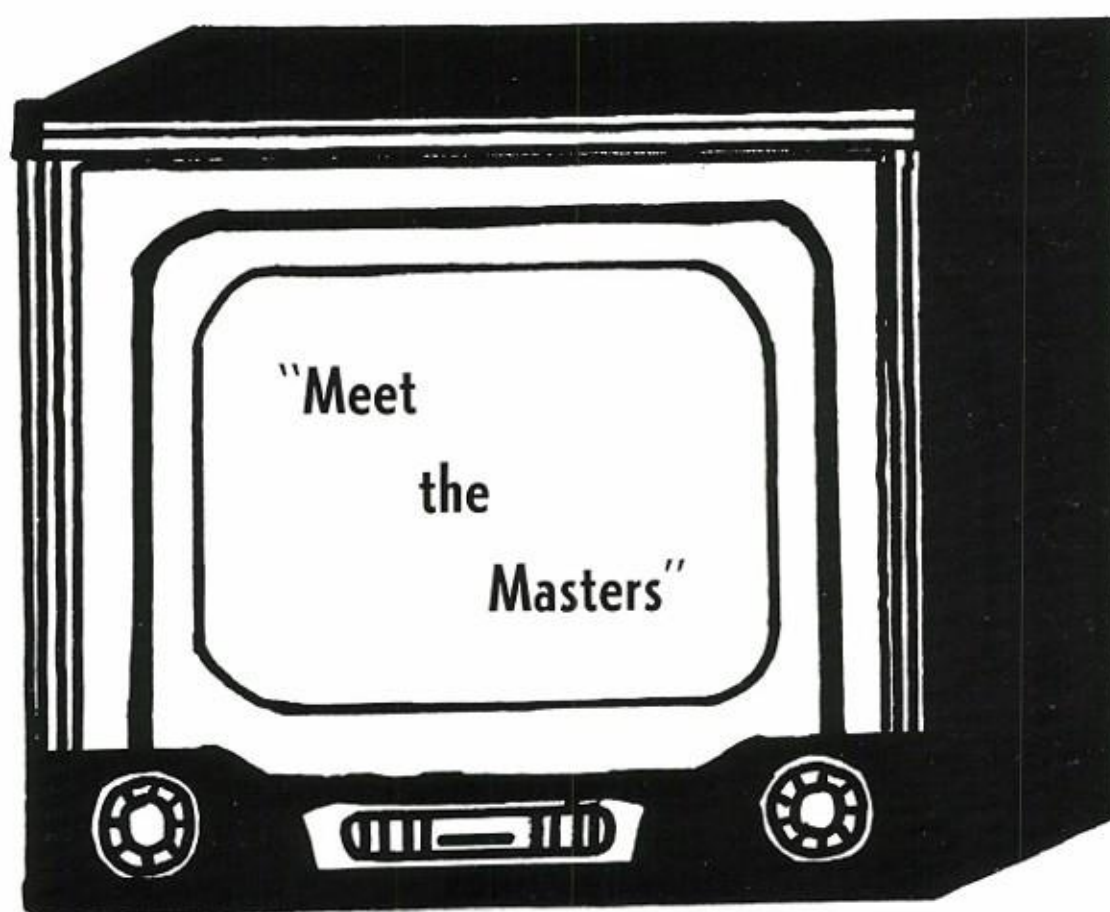

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Help us now to prove our worth,
As we strive to do thee honor,
Garden spot of all the earth.
Through the years our foes discerning,
Red and black—our flag we'll fly
O'er the best in sport and learning.
Hail to thee, McCaskey High.

A. Fred Rentz and John H. Rodman confer about scheduled programs and finances.

Guidance and the placement bureau at McCaskey keep Mrs. Mary B. Myers and S. Ernest Kilgore busy.

Civic Leaders Guide School Procedures

The Lancaster City School Board, composed of nine elected members, is headed by Wallace L. Robinson. This group is the official governing body by which the important decisions and procedures concerning the school system are made.

Dr. Harvey A. Smith, the superintendent of the Lancaster city schools, has served in this capacity for sixteen years. As we graduate, Dr. Smith is retiring from his position. Through the years he has shown by his loyal service that he has the best interests of the school children at heart. We, the graduates, thank him for his guidance.

The school board has elected Dr. Orris H. Aurand of Lewistown, Pennsylvania, to succeed Dr. Smith.

Competent Leaders Provide Guidance

Here at McCaskey, the administration has guided and counseled us during our stay. It is the sympathetic understanding of these leaders that has made our high school career the happy and wonderful experience that it has been.

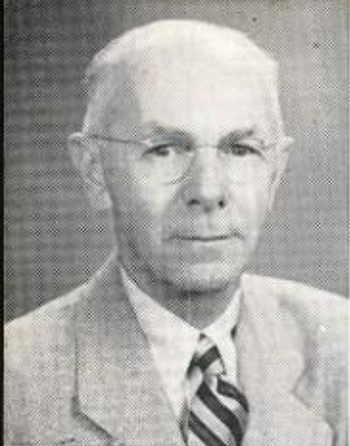

When we began as sophomores, Dr. B. B. Herr was the principal and Donald B. Witmer, the assistant principal. Because of Dr. Herr's retirement and Mr. Witmer's sudden death, our senior year was guided by A. Fred Rentz and John H. Rodman.

Mrs. Mary B. Myers and S. Ernest Kilgore, dean of girls and dean of boys respectively, have become friends to all who have come to them with problems.

The administrative staff in coming years will be an inspiration to future students just as it has been to us.

McCaskey Students Are Honored By Quill and Scroll Membership

Admission to Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, is granted to students for superior achievement on their school publications.

The society, founded in April of 1926 for the purpose of encouraging and rewarding individual achievement in journalism, chartered the McCaskey chapter in 1931.

For membership into the society a student must meet the following qualifications: junior or senior classification; upper third of his class scholastically; and publication of 100 inches of copy or its equivalent, in hours spent in participation, business management, ad soliciting, or work on the radio program.

Miss Violet B. Weber, Janet Allison, Jacqueline Kochel, Susan Eman, and Nancy Kahler rest for a few minutes on the edge of the Columbia University Library fountain at the CSPA Yearbook Convention.

ECHO Production Keeps Staff Members Busy

As the end of the 1953 school term was drawing near, a call was issued for candidates for the 1954 ECHO Staff. From those who answered the call a permanent staff was formed.

Almost immediately the work began. Soon the theme had been selected, layouts begun, and editors chosen.

In the fall all the staff members sold as many subscriptions as possible in order to meet the goal of 700.

Also in the fall, Miss Sarah E. Bitner, Miss Violet B. Weber, and a group of editors — Janet Allison, Susan Eman, Nancy Kahler, and Jacqueline Kochel — attended the Yearbook Convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in New York, where the ECHO was awarded a first-class rating.

This year Miss Weber acted as faculty adviser along with Miss Bitner.

During the year the work on the yearbook steadily continued. The advertising staff solicited ads; graduation pictures at Hager's were taken; and group pictures at the school were made.

Meanwhile the staff busied themselves with writing copy and captions and assembling the book.

When all was ready, a printer and an engraver were secured, proofs were prepared and necessary changes were made, and the 1954 ECHO was completed.

VIDETTE Staff Members Publish McCaskey Current Events

Delegates to the PSPA convention dance to the music provided by the Hershey Dance Band. All the decorations were symbolic of the PSPA and of journalism in general.

With Richard Gaintner serving as Editor-in-Chief, the VIDETTE compiled and published seventeen issues of news, sports, and features of interest to McCaskey students.

Weeks before the opening of school, work was begun on the first issue of the VIDETTE, which was distributed the first day.

Following the busy subscription campaign, VIDETTE members observed National Newspaper Week in October by visiting the Lancaster Newspapers Incorporated, where they learned the techniques of a professional newspaper.

November 6 and 7 McCaskey played host to the Pennsylvania School Press Association. In March eleven student-journalists, accompanied by Robert W. Broome, attended the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention in New York City. The VIDETTE received medalist rating for the sixth consecutive year.

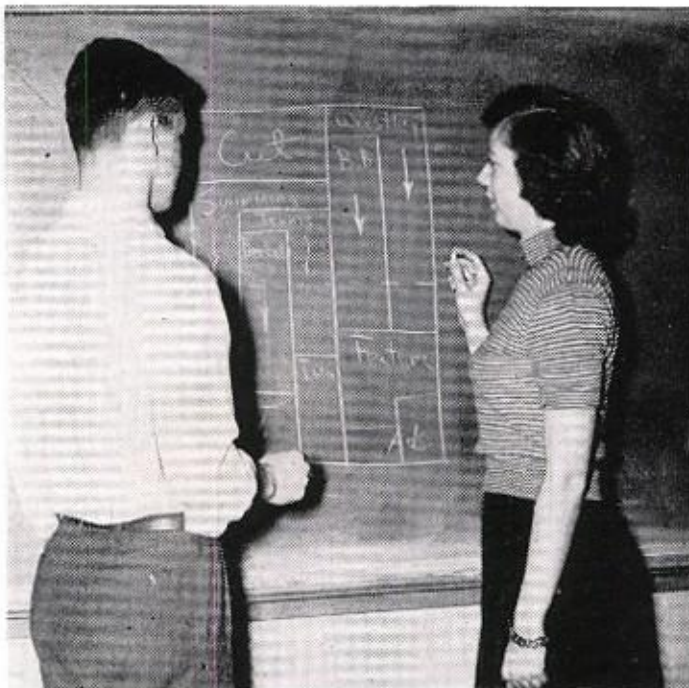

In addition to these activities, the VIDETTE sponsored a football program, edited by Ronald Esick and Robert Fryberger, and the radio program, "The Voice of VIDETTE." Thomas Eby and William Pontz served as co-announcers.

Standing: Richard Walton, advertising manager, William Pontz, radio announcer.

National Thespian Society Honors Dramatic Talent

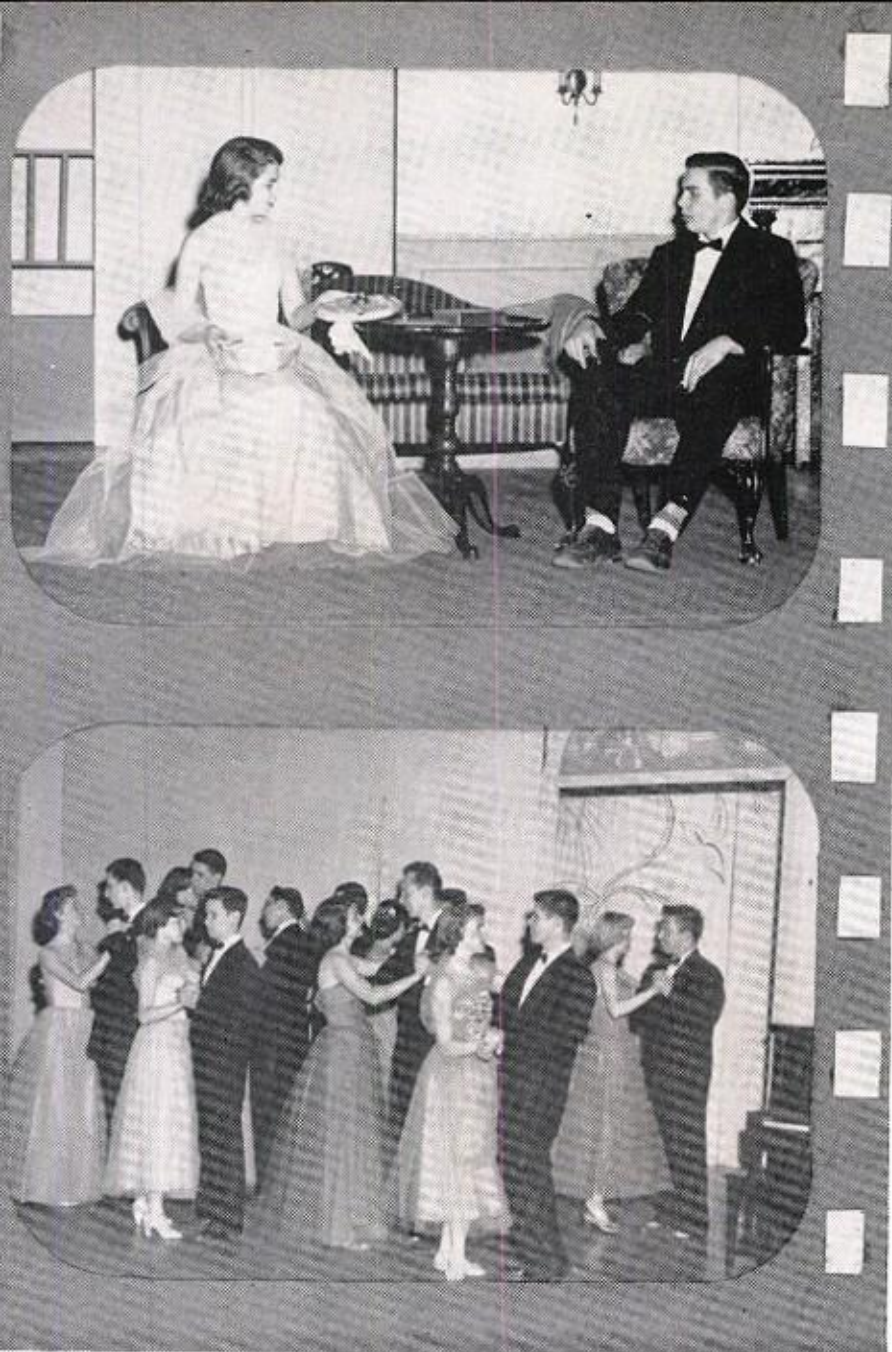

"Act well your part; there all the honor lies" is the motto of the National Thespian Society. Troupe 960, whose sponsor is Miss Naomi B. Terry, was chartered at McCaskey in 1949.

To gain recognition in this honorary organization, a sufficient number of points must be earned in the field of dramatics.

The Thespian initiation is presented in assembly once every three years. In this way, a student may see the ceremony once in his high school career. The new members are inducted at a dinner meeting every spring.

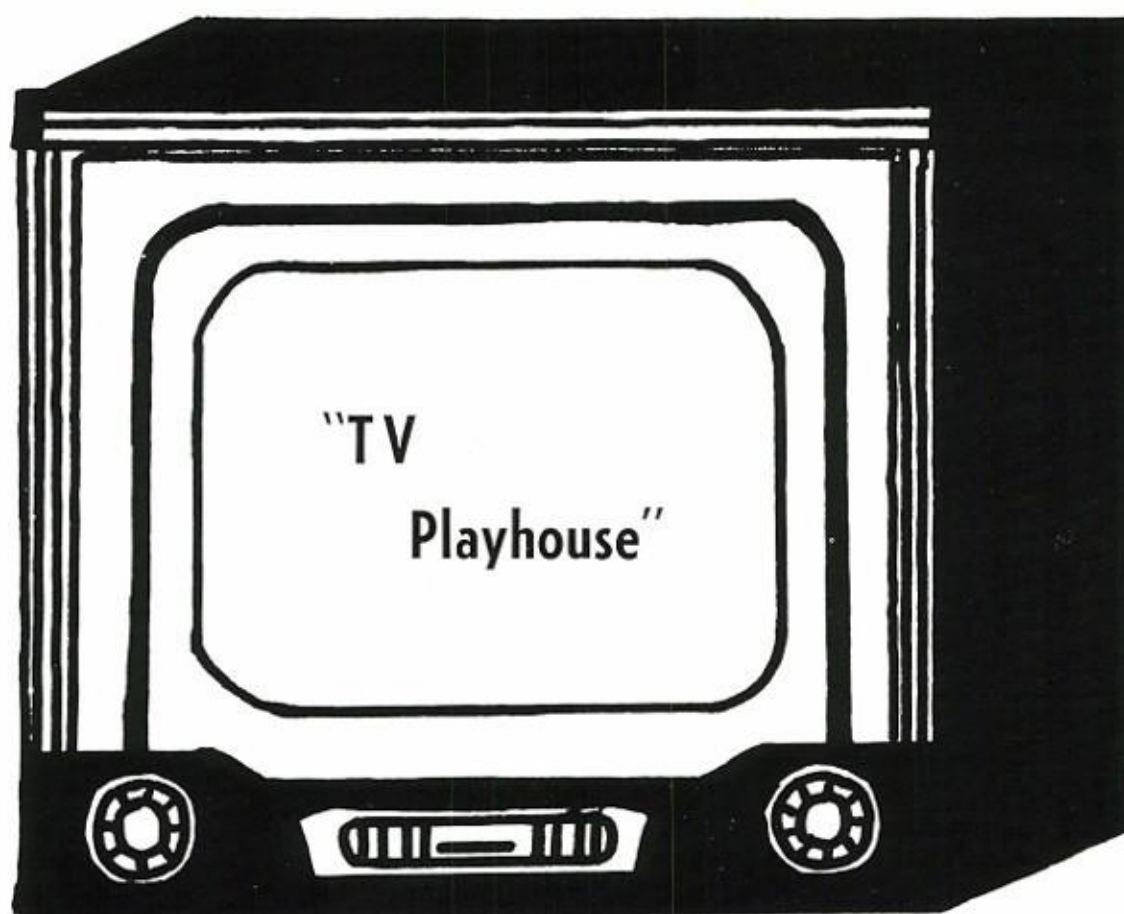

This year's members attended the Thespian convention at Upper Darby, Pennsylvania, March 20.

The selection of a play, try-outs, the distribution of parts, weeks of practice, and suddenly — the thrill of opening night, and another McCaskey production is underway.

The fall play was "The Torchbearers," a satirical comedy by George Kelly. Previews were given for Parents' Night, in assembly, and on the "Voice of Vidette."

The cast worked long and hard for six weeks to perfect this delightful satire which was presented November 20 and 21.

Top to bottom, counter-clockwise: The maid announces the arrival of actor guests to Mrs. Pampinelli and the stage manager.

Nelly tells Paula (left) and Mrs. Pampinelli about the death of Mr. Sheppard.

Mrs. Pampinelli urges the members of the cast to "carry the torch of learning to the masses."

The members of the cast learn what their "business" is in the play.

Clara Sheppard, in spite of her grief, comes to the production of the play, where she meets Mrs. Pampinelli.

Fred "talks" Paula into giving up her career as an actress.

Nelly, the official promptress, flirts with Fred.

The spring play, sponsored by the Red Masque Dramatics Club, was a mystery-comedy by Fred Ballard and Mignon G. Eberhart.

The large cast, under the direction of Miss Naomi B. Terry, worked faithfully on the play and in spite of illness, last minute replacements, and other misfortunes, it was presented on April 9 and 10.

Gardiner C. Criswell and his crafts classes designed the scenery for the production.

Dramatic students not in the play assisted with the program, make-up, publicity, and tickets.

Top to bottom, clockwise: Billy, Russ, and Lee fight over the next dance with Judy.

Professor Ool watches as Doreen is questioned by Judy.

Rita pays Russ for accusing her of the crime, as Minna, Cy, Val, and Nydia watch.

Judy and Billy decide on a plan for assembling clues.

Professor Slopes tries out his idea for detecting guilt, observed by the chief of police and his assistant Joe.

Joe, Phyllis, Ken, Doc, and the chief remove the evidence from the body of Lee.

Val and Russ discuss an important clue, a ring.

Red Masque Dramatics Club Trains Budding Players

Each year the Red Masque Dramatics Club, whose adviser is Miss Naomi B. Terry, presents a one-act Christmas play for the entertainment of the other clubs in school. The play enacted this year was "Pop Reads the Christmas Carol."

Different members have charge of the program every week. The programs include pantomimes, make-up, talent shows, excerpts from well-known plays, criticism of the school plays, and quiz programs.

The club also sponsored the spring play, "320 College Avenue." Members not in the cast served on the various committees, sold tickets, and took charge of various backstage duties. Through participation members can qualify as Thespian members.

The Choristers were selected singers for smaller group participation.

Glee Club Members Take To The High C's

The red-robed members of McCaskey's senior glee club formed their traditional candlelight procession at the annual Christmas concert in December.

The combined glee clubs and orchestra, under the direction of Miss Dorothy E. Schock and James E. Zwally, presented an enjoyable evening of music to open McCaskey's Christmas festivities.

The senior glee club sang for the entertainment of those present for E. I. B. Day and for the PSPA convention in November. They also traveled to Hershey and several other places to sing.

May brought the spring concert and the glee

Sophomores: Robert Bosley, David Brubaker, Doris Firestone, Evelyn Garver, Patricia Hartman, Charles Lort, Mildred Miller, Jolyn Murr, Frances Paul, Luella Theis.

McCaskey Band Serves School and Community

McCaskey's marching band is known throughout Lancaster for its colorful uniforms, snappy strut, and fine music. The band, under the direction of James E. Zwally, urged the football team on to victory in the fall. They also played for pep rallies and parades.

Closely allied with the marching band were the majorettes who worked with them in the presentation of the skillfully-executed precision drills for before-game and half-time entertainment. Hours of early-morning rehearsal were faithfully attended that the programs might bring credit and distinction.

One of the concert band's most ambitious undertakings was the wonderful tribute they paid to the musicians of Lancaster in their March concert.

Kenneth Kreider and Audrey DeMora represented McCaskey at the All-State Band Festival. They also went to the Southern District Band Festival, along with Louise Moyer, Wendy Morgan, Lee Slabach, Bette Allison, Nicholas Burkholder, Erik Shaar, Berenice Spangler, and Richard Yohn.

McCaskey's newest band group is the dance band. These musicians gave an assembly program and provided music for a school dance.

Brass: Roy Denlinger, Emmet Eckman, Kenneth Etter, William McCurdy, Harold Rineer, Robert Runk, Jere Shertzer, Lee Slabach.
 Saxophones: Philip Bomberger, Jacob Fisher, Nancy Glassman, Joseph Hatfield, Joan Phenegar.

Music By the McCaskey Orchestra "Hath Charms"

The McCaskey orchestra is a group of talented student musicians under the direction of James E. Zwally. This organization assisted the glee club in the presentation of "Showboat" for E. I. B. Day in October and for the PSPA convention in November. They also played before and between the acts of the fall play.

In February the members of the orchestra took part in an assembly program for the student body.

Along with the other songs played at the Christmas concert, the traditional Hallelujah Chorus was rendered. The group presented "Oklahoma!" in the spring concert.

Fourteen representatives traveled to Middletown to participate in the Southern District Orchestra Festival, April 8, 9, and 10, where Ernest Papavasilion, violin; Kenneth Kreider, oboe; Larry Donnelly, snare drum; Bette Allison, second French horn, received special honors. Top honor went to Ernest, who was named co-concert-meister.

A selected group of orchestra members—David Gockley, Ruth Gordon, Erik Shaar, Kathleen Kendig, and Ernest Papavasilion—provide the instrumental music at the football banquet.

McCaskey Dedicates New Organ

S. Ernest Kilgore, chairman of the Dedication Committee, hands the keys to the organ to A. Fred Rentz, principal. Standing with Mr. Kilgore are Roger Headrick, pupil-participant; Mr. Rentz; Dr. Harvey A. Smith, superintendent of schools; John H. Rodman, assistant principal. Seated at the organ are Marie R. Gast, guest organist, and Nancy Kahler, student organist.

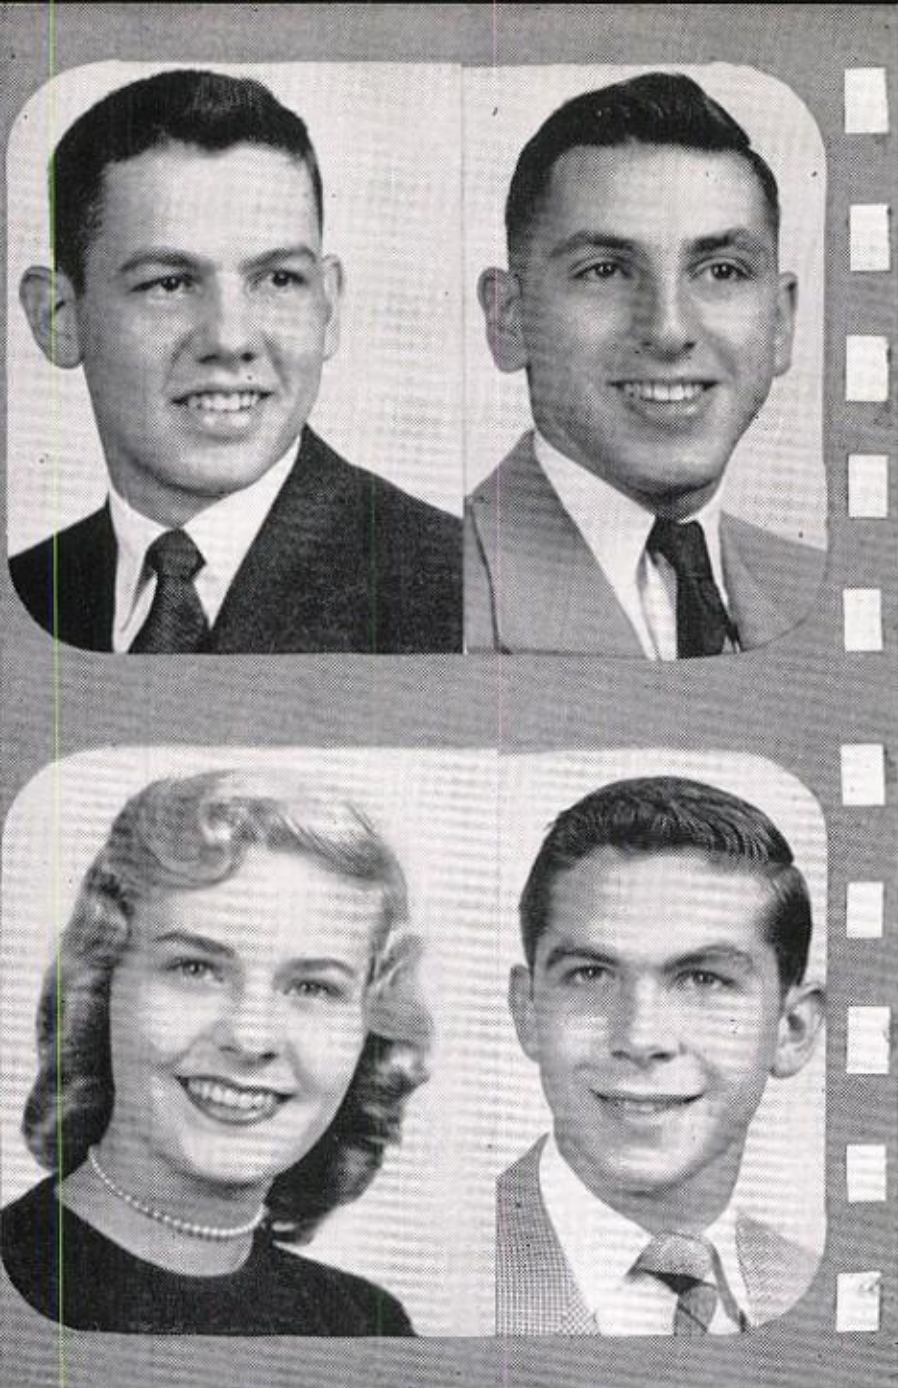

At a special assembly in October the newly-purchased school organ was dedicated "To the memory of the pupils of Lancaster High School who made the supreme sacrifice in World War II." Members of the immediate families of those who died were invited as special guests.

The service included a short organ recital by a local organist, a dedication prayer, and an anthem, "Lest We Forget," which was also the theme of the program.

The organ is used at the opening of every assembly period; also it serves either as an accompaniment or a special offering at other school events.

Nancy Kahler, an accomplished musician, demonstrates the school organ.

Honor Society Membership Recognizes Service

Membership in the National Honor Society is based on scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The members' first task was the orientation of the sophomores in September. The newcomers were taken on a guided tour of their new school home.

The society, along with other McCaskey organizations, played host to the delegates at the P.S.P.A.

convention held at McCaskey November 6 and 7.

Its duties include the care of the trophy case, the bulletin boards, the Honor Plaque in the lobby, the sponsorship of assembly programs, and tutoring of pupils who need help in some subjects.

The organization also furnished ushers for the Community Concerts throughout the year as part of community service by the members.

Dorothy Simmons and Janet Allison kept the bulletin board announcements of meetings and records of events up to date as a service of the Honor Society.

All-School Social Committee Heads McGaskey Dances

Headed by Claire Donohoe and William Pontz, McGaskey's All-School Social Committee sponsored several dances throughout the year, and kept the school's social activities running smoothly.

In November, a dance was given for those attending the PSPA Convention. December brought the "Winter Wonderland"; and January, the "Basketball Bounce."

"A good time was enjoyed by all" who attended the dance held during the PSPA convention in November.

Paula Snyder, crowned queen of the "Sweetheart Serenade", is congratulated by Ray Wolf.

The "Sweetheart Serenade" took place in February. A dance was also scheduled after the band concert in March. A square dance in April, the "Texas Star," included square dancing and social dancing, with music for the latter provided by the McCaskey Dance Band.

The Senior Prom in June was conducted through the planning of the committee.

Claire Donohoe and Joe Peffley, and Carol Lynes and William Pontz dance in front of the "snowmen skaters", part of the decorations for the "Winter Wonderland."

Distributive Education Course Trains Future Salesmen

The goal of the Distributive Education Course is to train students for future employment in retail stores. Having attended regular classes in their sophomore and junior years, these apprentice salespeople in the senior year have classes in the morning; the afternoon is spent in working in local stores of co-operating merchants. The instructor this year was Mrs. Helen D. Kauffman, who substituted for Mrs. Kathryn A. Clark, on leave of absence. The students took many interesting trips under the supervision of Mrs. Kauffman. Among the places visited were Lancaster's filtering and disposal plants, the Capitol buildings in Harrisburg, and Lancaster's police station and court house. They also went through Clark's greenhouses, in which orchids are raised. In March they attended at York a play entitled "Mr. D. E." In April they traveled to Pottsville for a convention. In spite of all these activities, the students found time to run the school store where one can buy almost anything the high school student needs. New items were included in the store this year — combs with McCaskey High School printed on them, pliable football change purses, and plastic covers for the protection of the ECHO. The students included in their busy program the trimming of the display window in the store every two weeks.

Edward Mitchell, Benjamin Harple, and Robert Patterson prepare signs for a special sale in the store.

Window decoration is part of the Distributive Education Course training.

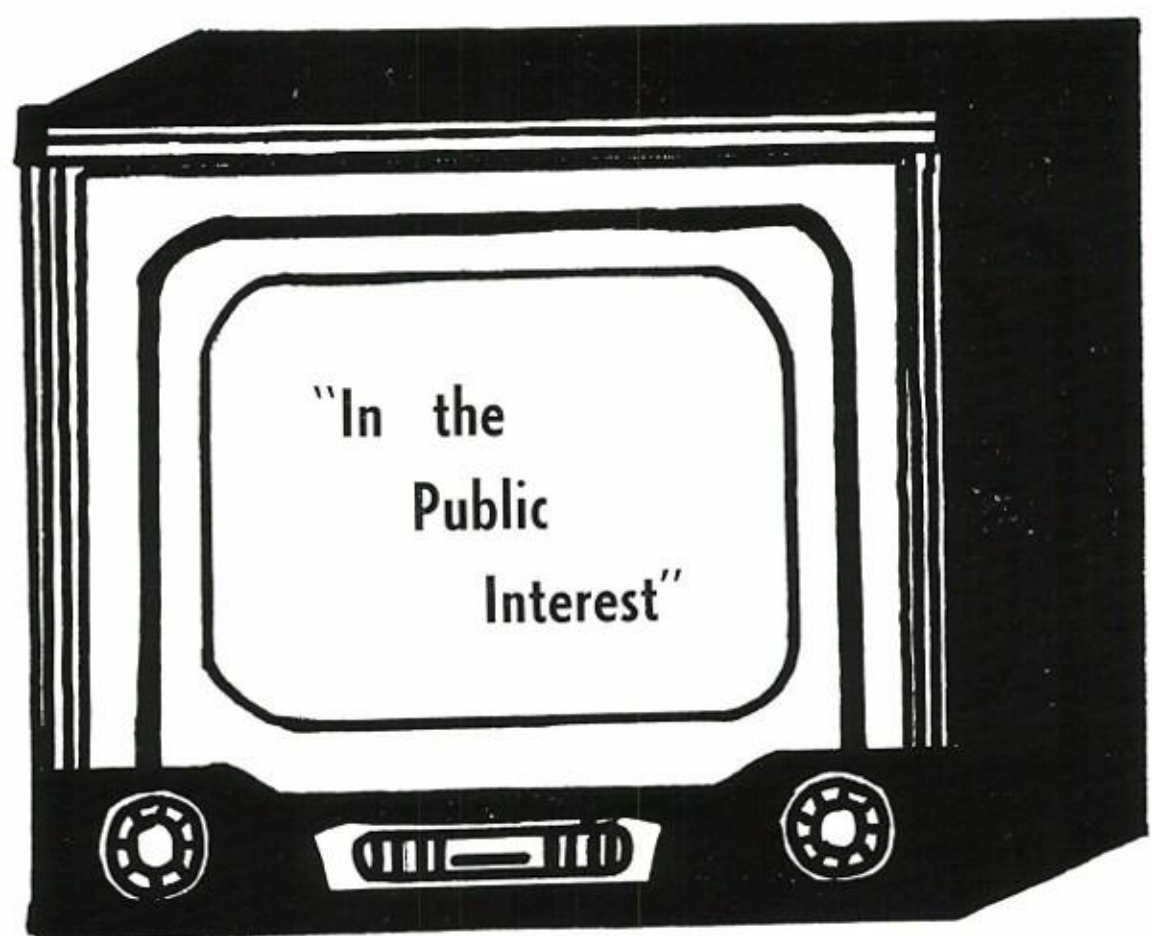

Teachers and businessmen exchange thoughts and ideas in discussions on Education-Industry-Business Day in October.

Robert C. Wolpert plans radio and television programs in connection with his public relations work.

McCaskey has more than two hundred girls who are members of the Y-Teens, an organization which is sponsored by the YWCA. Programs of worship and recreation are open to the girls, who hold their meetings once a week throughout the school year. One of their annual projects is the World-Wide Bazaar. Other outstanding events are the Recognition

Service and the mid-winter conference, the latter a meeting which was held at York this year. The memory of the religious services, business meetings, semi-formals, "soup slurps," bake sales, and "sundae socials" will always be fresh in the minds of McCaskey "Y-teeners" long after they have been graduated.

The YMCA offers a fine program of sports, religion, and fellowship to the boys who belong to the Hi-Y. McCaskey is represented by three clubs — Buchanan, Lincoln, and Roosevelt. Meetings are held once a week, and the program of each club is opened by the chaplain. This year the boys sent several baskets of food to needy families. In February a Father and Son Assembly was held. A semi-formal dance in April and a trip to New York near the end of the school year, together with some of their other projects, completed the Hi-Y calendar of activities.

Harry E. Langford gives parking instructions in the road work of the driving course to Ardelta Ream and Sarah Ebersole.

Driver Training Goal Is Safe Drivers

McCaskey's driver training course plays an important part in the program of a student during his junior year. At this time he is required to take the classroom instruction in driver training. Driving lessons in one of the Pontiacs or Mercurys will enable him to obtain his license. The pupils learn not only the mechanics of a car, but also the safety rules which every good driver should know and follow. E. Jerry Brooks, Samuel F. Brown, and Harry E. Langford handle the road work in dual control cars, and Edward L. Haller is in charge of the classroom instruction.

Edward L. Haller describes some of the intricacies of the automobile motor to Mark Cramer (front) and Vernon Groff.

Red Cross Council Sponsors School Service

McCaskey's Junior Red Cross Council takes charge of the school's Red Cross enrollment drive each year. They sponsored an assembly program in October at which the president of the Inter-County Red Cross Council spoke. The members sent the school chest to Washington before Christmas. They also found time to make pajamas for the Needlework Guild and aprons for the Visiting Nurses Association. Officers this year were president, Patricia Evans; vice-president, Barbara Bachman; secretary, Jacqueline Kochel. Miss Blanche I. Behrens is sponsor for McCaskey's Red Cross support.

School chest material is on display before the shipment to Washington.

Farrell Brody, Marianne Eicholtz, Patsy Witmer, Miss Mildred Wolfe, John Brubaker, Ruth Henry, Miss Dorothea Wolfe, Evelyn Zug, and Elizabeth Frederick make preparations for a library exhibit.

Library Student Staff Renders Fine Service

The members of the Library Club render valuable service to the school in the checking of books, in the care and accumulating of materials that will be needed for reference work, and in preparing displays that will serve as guide to the pupils' reading.

These library assistants work from the beginning of school in September to the close of school in June after all books have been checked for the year. Before and after school hours they help the librarians to type catalog cards, book orders, and other official library requirements. Many times these helpers find this training aids them in their later vocation of office work or as a good background for the field of library science in college.

Charles Peterson, III, discharging books; Lloyd Mosemann, II, alphabetizing catalog cards; and Jean Mitchell, assembling books for reserve shelves, render senior service on the student library staff.

Virginia Mitchell, Mary Fisher, Audrey Snodgrass (seated); and Audrey Kuhns, Mary Hoin, Loretta Singleton, Elwood Reinhart, Janice Plauger, Patie Theobald, Marlene Wiggins (standing) receive instruction about the many duties they perform in the library.

Plastics, Printing, Woodworking Present Practical Program

Varied phases of printer's work are taught in the print shop of McCaskey. This is one of the newer courses in the Industrial Arts Department. The classes have printed tickets, programs, and office forms for the organizations in school. The boys are also instructed in press work, the care of equipment, paper handling and figuring, layout and page make-up, and proof reading.

The widespread use of plastics in the home and in industry has made this activity a popular one in the general Shop program. Many useful projects constructed of this material afford the craftsman experiences in cutting, forming, and joining lucite and plastic materials. Franklin R. Marsh is instructor.

Each year a new house construction can be seen in the shop area. This is the work of the boys in the wood shop. They may learn carpentry, cabinet making, or pattern making; the use of tools and machinery; and general construction work. The wood shop teacher is Oliver W. Barrick.

Vocational Training Is Put To Use In Home and Industry

Clifford E. Bair sees to it that McCaskey boys receive a general automotive course in the auto shop. Those who enroll are given all parts of the work of the general auto mechanic. Part of the training is also the care of a car from its paint job polish to its workings.

The boys in the electric shop, under the supervision of H. Leland Hoover, learn about such things as electronics, house wiring, heavy motor work, and winding of motors. This is practical work that can be put to good use at home, as is the work in the other courses.

Under the direction of Joseph M. Fellows in the machine shop, the boys are instructed especially in machine tool operation. Some of the boys find work in industry while they are still in school.

The vocational training which McCaskey gives to its boys prepares them for many skilled jobs after they are graduated.

Commercial Department Prepares for Varied Office Positions

Miss Sara F. Diller dictates to Jane Kneisley while Patricia Steinman prepares to type a letter. On each side of the typewriter a floor model and a desk model dictaphone are shown.

Charles Muthattan observes Wanda Matthews and Merle Harnish as they complete a bookkeeping assignment in the model bank section of the school's well-equipped business department.

Belva Gibbs works with a stylus on the mimeoscope in preparation of a stencil; Joyce Chalfant and Arlene Caulwell finish running a completed stencil on the mimeograph.

Walter Labovich gives instructions to Patricia Milley and Patsy Herr on the electric Marchant calculator, one of the many types of office machines whose use is taught in business work.

Commercial training at McCaskey High School provides three major choices for following a business career. Those pupils interested in becoming stenographers and secretaries concentrate on shorthand and typewriting.

Bookkeeping and typewriting interest the students who wish to make a career in the field of office records and accounting.

The third field consists of pupils who are interested mainly in general office work. They learn typewriting, the operation of office machines, and filing. Many pupils pursue a varied combination of these subjects.

In addition to these three concentrated fields, the pupils taking business work may find jobs as typists, receptionists, operators on the dictaphone, vari-typewriter, and mimeograph machines, payroll and file clerks, and similar related business office positions.

Arts and Crafts Keep Fingers Busy

McCaskey girls learn to be skilled needlewomen and also good cooks under the direction of Miss Blanche E. Behrens and Miss Anna J. Knox. One day this year the girls who had made outfits wore them to school. Their fashionable ensembles were ample proof of their accomplishments. Christmas gifts and decorations were also prepared.

If a delicious smell has ever been wafted past your nostrils as you walked down the hall, it was probably coming from the home economics rooms, as the girls learned to prepare practical foods that are tasty too! This course certainly adapts the students to their future roles as homemakers. The boys also are aided in preparation for their service as chefs. They might even help in the kitchen at home!

For those who wish to express themselves artistically, McCaskey offers arts and crafts classes.

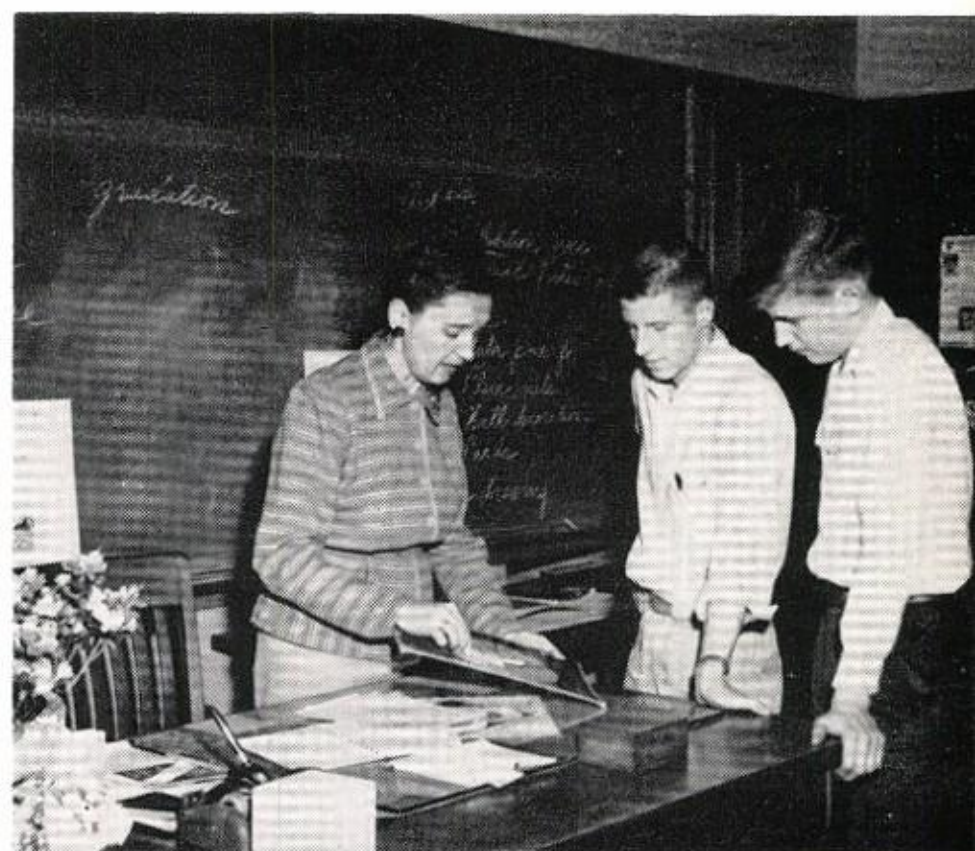

Mrs. Lucille A. Edwards taught art this year until the return of Miss Pauline A. Stauffer from her world trip, during which she made additional study of art.

The art students study the techniques and works of famous painters, but are especially encouraged to put their own ideas on paper.

Gardiner C. Criswell is the crafts instructor. His boys assist him in the preparation of the fine sets and furniture needed for the school plays. He also directs them in the use of leather and other practical materials employed in the crafts work.

Julia Gast and Patricia Wiker arrange a display of Christmas handwork.

Miss Pauline A. Stauffer explains the color wheel to Clark Musser and William Witmer.

Vernon Groff, John Baker, and Thomas Hinkle stencil the scenery for the Christmas concert.

During the fall of 1953, the varsity football team turned in a record of four wins and five losses.

Under Coach Boyd L. Sponaugle, the varsity team climaxed the season by defeating York, the Central Pennsylvania Football League Champions. York put forth some of their best plays, but the final score was 14-13 in favor of the Red Tornado.

William Saunders and John Zook were elected co-captains.

Typical entrance of the varsity team to the gridiron!

Junior Varsity Football

Under Coach Edward L. Haller, the junior varsity football team met some stiff competition and managed to finish the 1953 season with a record of two wins, five losses, and one tie. One of the highlights of their season was the victory over Reading Junior Varsity by a score of 7-0. The Junior Varsity was able to keep its record of three wins in three starts with the Manheim Township Junior Varsity Squad in non-league competition.

Varsity Team Wins In Non-League Competition

The 1953-54 varsity basketball team won only six games and lost 13 — the same record last year's team posted. Three of the Hallermen victories came in pre-season non-league competition, when they out-scored Pottsville twice and West Chester. The victories in league tilts were recorded against Lebanon, Milton Hershey, and John Harris.

William Saunders, captain of the Tornado five, was top point-getter as he scored 233 points in 19 games for a per game average of 12.3 points.

A characteristic play for captain Saunders!

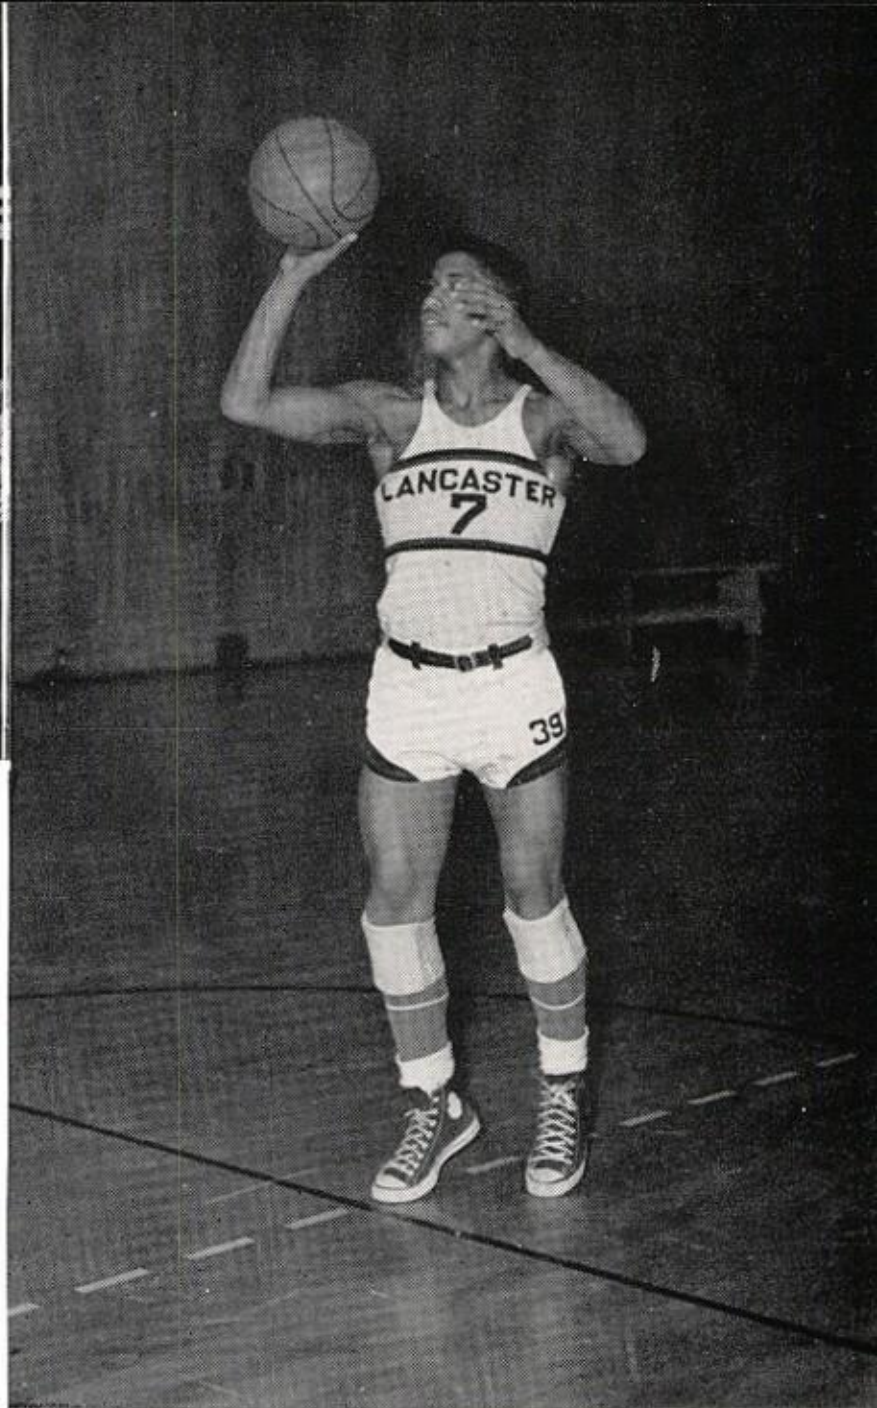

Jack Morrison's leap should make a goal possible.

John E. Rodeback Coaches Junior Varsity Basketball Team

The junior varsity basketball team under the coaching of John E. Rodeback recorded nine wins and ten losses in the 1953-54 season.

Four of the nine victories were scored in pre-season non-league competition against Pottstown, West Chester, and Pottsville twice. Other league victories were turned in against York, Steelton, John Harris, and Milton Hershey twice.

The team elected as their captain the fast-moving Eugene Boyce.

Coach Boyd Sponaugle, newly-appointed track mentor, looked forward to a good season for 1954. Although there were several good individuals, the team relays looked like the most promising events.

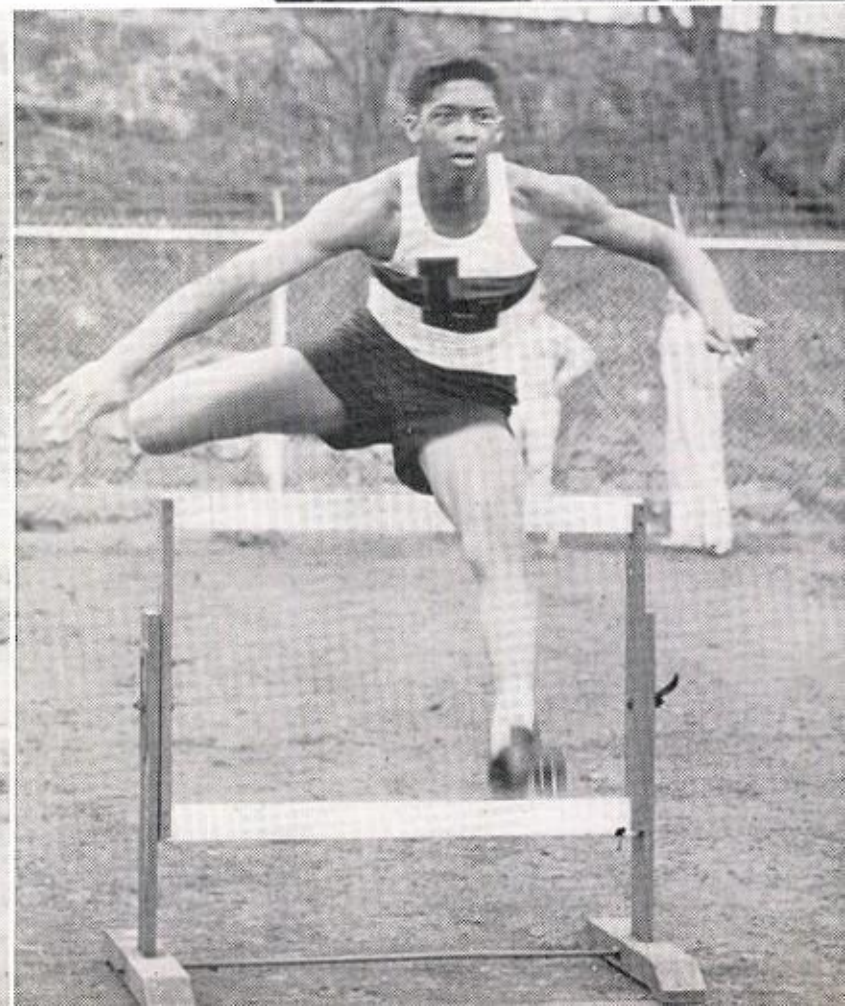

Probably the most outstanding member of the track squad was Gerald Harrison with excellence in the 880 and 440 distance events. Anchor man of the shotput was Ray Gaul. William Saunders was one of the best in the javelin throw. Edward Kraft was also proficient in the shotput and javelin.

Top: Gerald Harrison and Ray Gaul captain the 1954 McCaskey track team.

Center: Gerald Harrison and Charles Christian show how the passing of a baton should be done.

Weightmen Contribute to Track Scores

Charles Christian shows how to fly through the air with the greatest of ease in the high jump.

Seated: Harold Rodenboh, Donald Weaver, Edward Kraft, William Saunders, Ray Gaul, co-captain, Thomas Fournaris, Gus Papademetrious, William Rudisill.
Standing: Dr. George Gerlach, Ronald Huth, Lloyd Boose, Charles Murse, Leon Steffy, Thomas Hall, Braxton Davenport, Edward Haines, Charles Kraft, George King, Boyd L. Sponaugle, coach.

Noteworthy in the 220 distance event and high jump was Charles Christian. The high hurdles were Dale Campbell's specialty too. Best in the low hurdles were Edward Bigler, Thomas Trayer, R. James Neely, and Eugene Boyce. Edward Bigler also excelled in the broadjump.

Generally, the tracksters had a better-than-average shuttle relay team. The 880 distance relay team and mile relay team were good also.

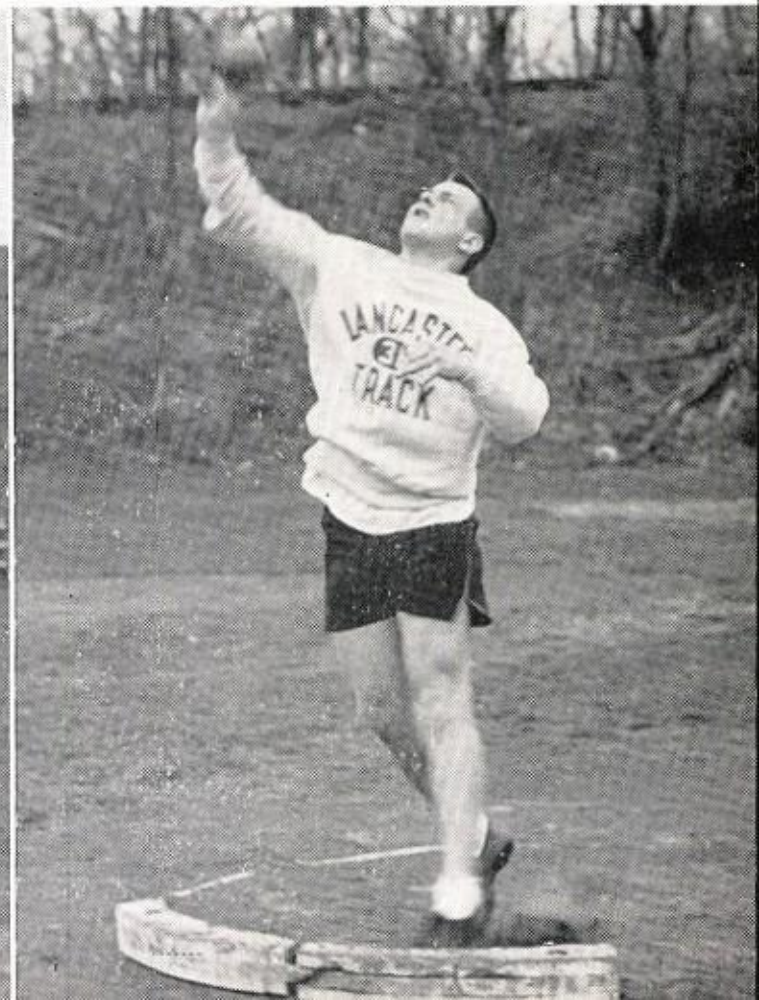

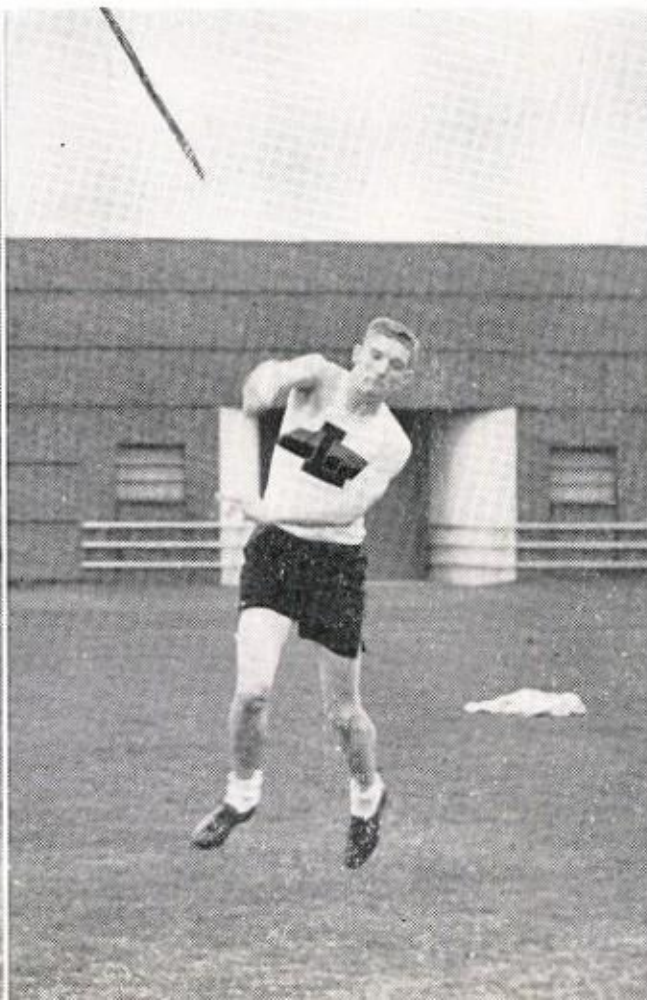

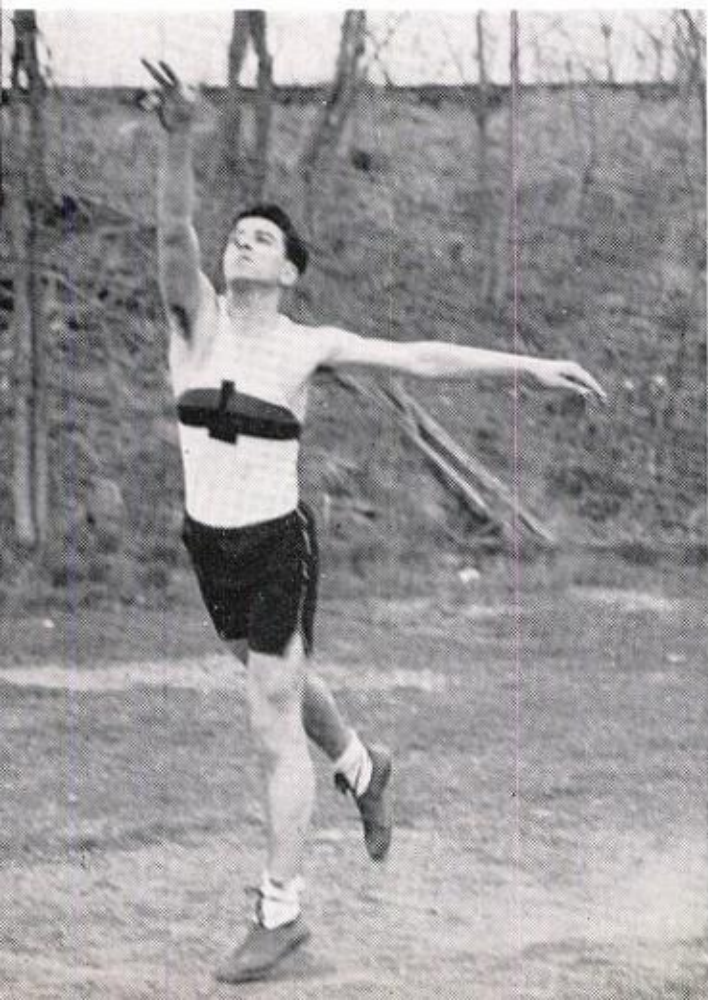

The McCaskey track men participated in dual meets as well as several relays, including the Penn Relays.

The team as a whole has a bright future, because most of its members are underclassmen who are being built up for future years. The veterans of the squad were set to gather most of the points in the 1954 season.

The discus throw is the spring sport for Gus Papademetrious.

McCaskey Soccermen Defeat York County Champions

The soccer squad under Coach James J. Neely registered three wins, five losses, and one tie during the 1953 season. The highlight of the season was the victory over North York by a score of 2-0. North York, champions of the York County League, displayed valiant effort; but the strong Tornado defense prevented a goal.

The McCaskey soccer squad was fortunate enough to have one of its members, Jere Fisher, placed on the first team of the Lancaster City and County All-Stars. Gerald Wolf and R. James Neely were placed on the second team. Jack Morrison received honorable mention.

After the completion of the season the squad elected R. James Neely and William Zecher co-captains.

Champion of the winter sports in the 1953-54 season was the Tornado swimming team under Coach Abram E. Herr. They turned in a spotless record of ten wins and no defeats.

Bettering his old time of 1:07.8, Donald Kissinger set a new McCaskey mark in the 100-yard backstroke event with a 1:06.2 performance.

Edward Schwar, Dale Henderson, and Henry Kelley came out first in their events in the District Three Championships. Schwar and Henderson copped first place in the Eastern Regional meet. Qualifiers for the State meet were Henry Kelley, Peter Zook, Charles Whiskeyman, Edward Schwar, Dale Henderson, and Donald Kissinger.

The Tornado mermen won their first District Three and Regional Championships in the history of the sport at McCaskey.

The mermen broke York's nineteen-year domination of the District meet and then edged York and Coatesville for the Regional title.

McCaskey Matmen Capture Championships

The grapplers managed once again to capture the District Three and Eastern Regional Championships.

The Red and Black wrestlers turned in a record of seven wins, three defeats, and one tie.

Individual title-holders in the district meets were Richard Charles, Jere Hemperly, and Joseph Saam. Charles and Hemperly went on to capture regional crowns. Charles won his second district title, and Hemperly won his third consecutive district and regional honors.

Jere Hemperly, captain of this year's squad, turned in the best individual record, going undefeated in eleven league meets. Charles remained unbeaten in two years of league competition.

Among those returning from last year's golf team were two seniors, one junior, and one sophomore who started in ninth grade.

The co-captains of the squad this year were Richard Goeke, a veteran of three years, and Roger Bruce, a two-year man.

Harry Bear returned for his second year of action, although he was only a sophomore. He started during his ninth grade. Another veteran of two years was John Long, a junior.

Kneeling: Carl Miller, Kenneth Kreider, Richard Goeke, Roger Bruce, William Hobbs, Paul Ziegler.

Standing: Joseph M. Fellows, coach, Harry Bear, Edward Frailey, Harold Rineer, John Long, Donald Hartman, Donald Herr, Robert Reehling, Thomas Eby.

The work of the catcher was shared by Donald Fisher, Richard Shertzer, and Richard Wiker.

Coach Harry Langford, starting his third year as varsity baseball mentor, had several returning lettermen to bolster this year's team, but he also had high hopes for some of the newcomers to the squad.

The captain of this year's aggregation was Roger Headrick. Other returning lettermen were Tony Diamantoni, David Gockley, Robert Harnish, Richard Hecker, and Richard Wilson, infielders, and George Darrah, the only outfielder. Richard Wiker and Richard Shertzer were the veteran catchers, and Robert Nonnenmocher, Ronald Etter, and Robert Montgomery, two-year pitchers.

The Red and Black team opened the season with a tie in the game against a strong Steelton team.

The 1954 tennis team was a member of the newly-formed Central Pennsylvania Tennis League, composed of eight schools — Reading, William Penn, Harrisburg, John Harris, York, Hershey, Lititz, Wyomissing, and McCaskey.

One of the key figures of this year's squad was Richard Charles, a senior. He won two Central Pennsylvania Singles Championships at Harrisburg last summer. Two other seniors on the team were William Witmer, a veteran of two years, and Leslie Solomon, a newcomer to the squad. Starting his second year on the team was a junior Michael Bair. Another outstanding member of the team was Jack Shertzer, a sophomore, holder of the title of Boys' Singles Champion of Central Pennsylvania.

The Junior Varsity played as members of the Inter-County Scholastic Tennis League.

Students Assist In Girls' Athletic Program

The Dolphin Club is composed of girls chosen by Miss Carol E. Dougherty and Mrs. Marilyn G. Smith for their ability to teach and to swim.

The swimming classes are divided into three groups — beginners, intermediates, and swimmers. During Tuesday club period, the Dolphin members receive the assignment for their particular group. They must master each stroke, so they can teach it well. Then each period the club members take over, so the teacher is free to move about, giving advice or help to individuals.

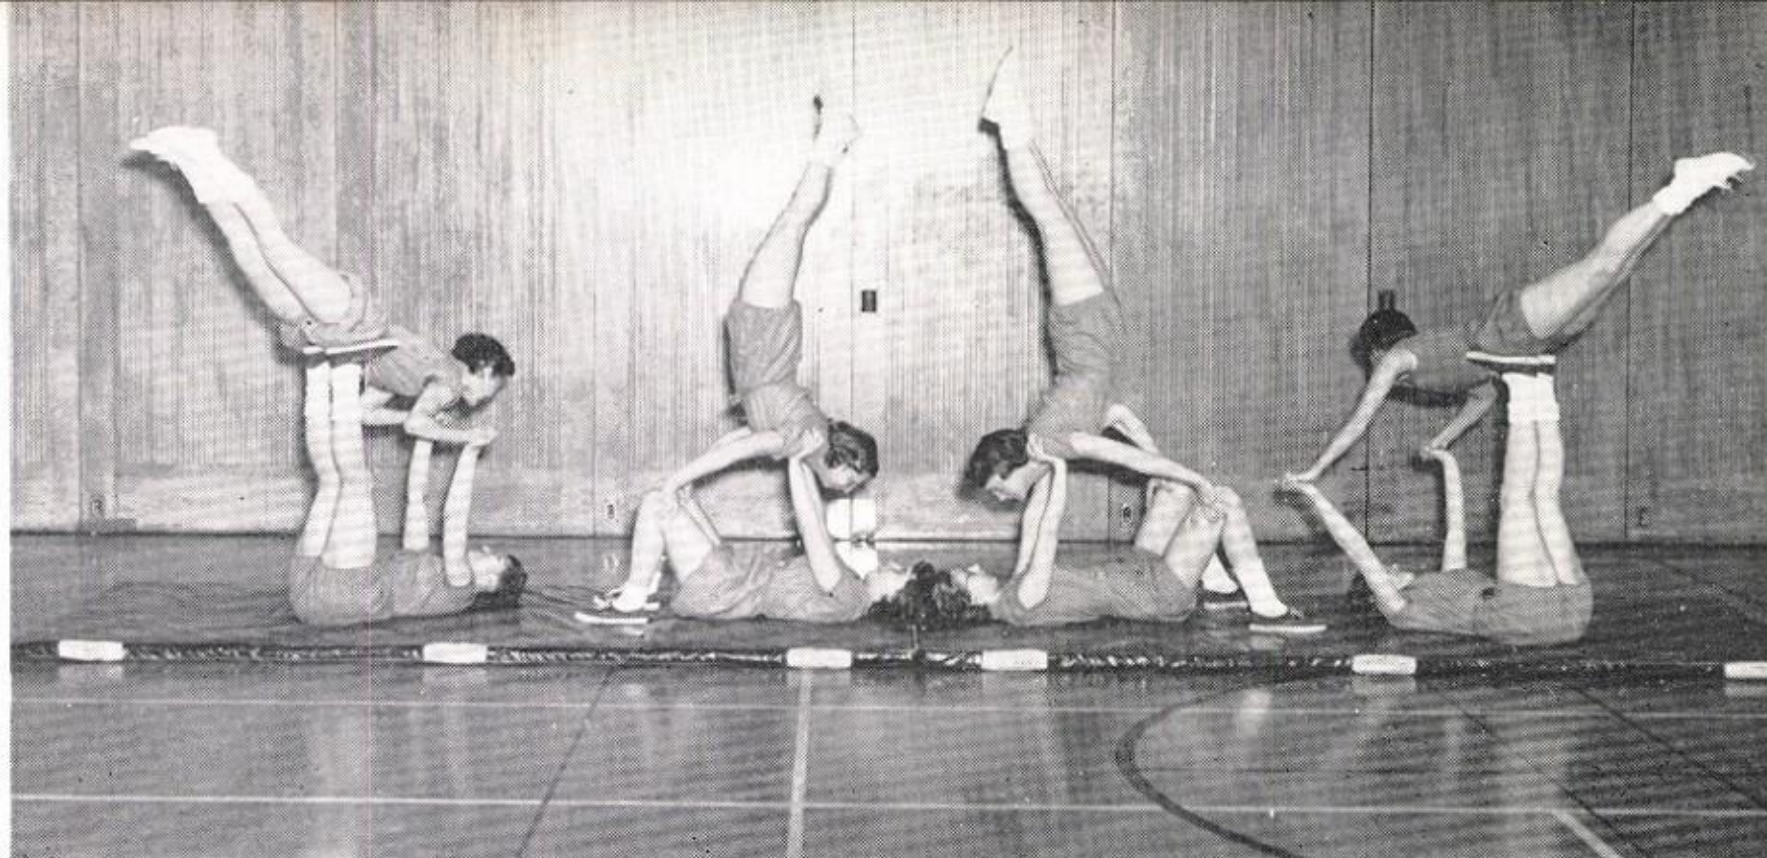

The members of the Leaders Club are selected from the gymnasium classes taught by Miss Janet L. Wignall. They are chosen for their outstanding athletic abilities and their leadership qualities.

In the Tuesday club period the fine points of a game and the refereeing of the game are discussed. Then the leaders take over the actual refereeing during class and after-school contests.

These girls make their contribution also in the regular class procedure each session by performing with skill the class routines.

Kneeling: Evelyn Garver, Sonia Altland, Dolores Xakellis, Molly Wood, Barbara Kauffman, Bernice Hartman, Dorothy Chandler, Judith Zimmerman.
 First row: Susan Hull, Phyllis Cox, Barbara Roberts, Mary Ellen Hopton, Louise Moyer, Mildred Miller, Elizabeth Herr, Patricia Gavan, Ruth Sherbalm.
 Second row: Joanne Peffley, Donna Longenecker, June Smith, Judith Roschel, Jean Roschel, Nancy Eckman, Beverly Eckert, Joanne Knier, Ann Phillips.
 Third row: Mary Ann Young, Geraldine Case, Marilyn Quinn, Lucretia Herr, Joyce Black, Doris Grill, Dorothy Blaisdell, Phyllis Lewis, Bette Allison, Evelyn Reidenbach.
 Fourth row: Jeanne Thomas, Megan Myers, Mary Lou Houser, Carolyn Gourley, Jean Ulmer, Carol Lynes, Judith Kempf, Gloria Creeden, Arlene Zimmerman.

Flat on mat: Mildred Miller, Romaine Peterman, Janet Weidler, Evelyn Garver.
Upright: Darlene LaComb, Geraldine Case, Elizabeth Herr, Barbara Bear.

Tumbling Groups Function At McGaskey

Under the direction of Miss Janet L. Wignall, the members of the girls' Tumbling Club meet almost every morning to practice the routines that make the girls proficient in skills. Programs at school and for organizations outside of school have been presented for the enjoyment of enthusiastic audiences.

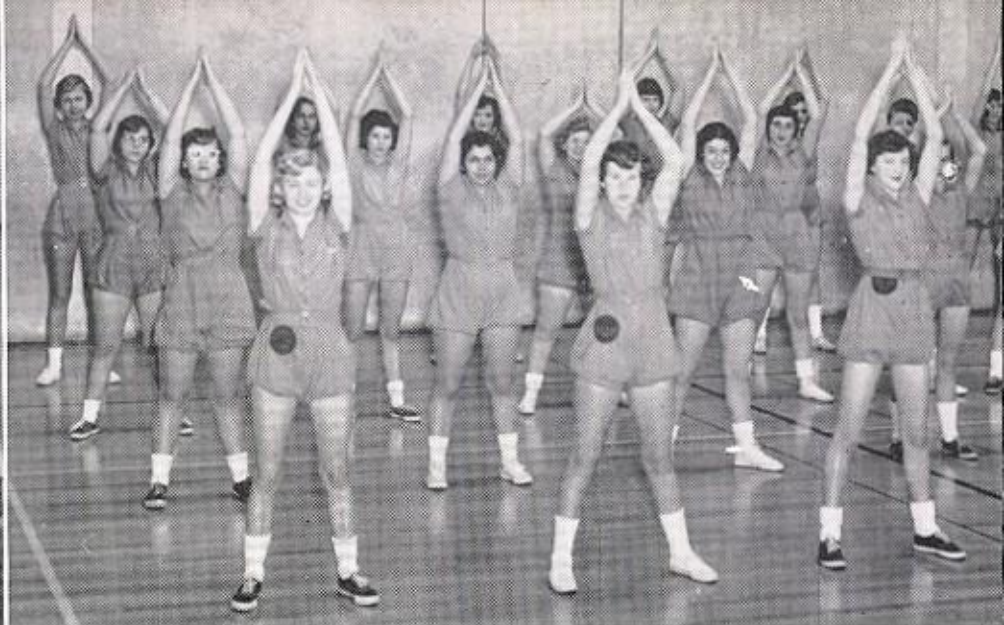

Rupert A. Williams organized a boys' tumbling team this year — after some time without an official group — and a program was presented in assembly with the members of the girls' group. The springboard and the box also figure in the routines the boys use, as well as the regular tumbling acts.

Square dancing is a piece of cooperative effort by the boys and girls in their gym classes.

Rhymics, taught in the girls' gym classes, provides an opportunity for development in grace and poise.

To choose your own menu, vary it as you please, and still be certain that you're enjoying the finest food in town — well, it's an opportunity offered only by the "Y". There you see the savory meats, the steaming vegetables, salads, hot breads, pastries, and intriguing desserts right in front of you awaiting your approval. No "blind" ordering of unseen foods. No feeling that you "have to eat it because it's on the dinner."

With prices reasonable enough to fit any budget and food excellent enough for the most discriminating connoisseur, it's easy to see why the "wise choose the 'Y' " every time.

1061 North Duke St.

Lancaster, Pa.

Often throughout the year, we can obtain Useful information from ads. We may need Repair service, laundries, or cleaners.

All these may be found here in the yearbook. Druggists are always needed, and florists are busy on Valentine's Day and other holidays and anniversaries.

Even toys and jewelry may be traced through ads.

Radio and TV centers are easily located, and for new Tools there's no better place to look. Yes, we have it all.

Indeed, one may find anything here from food to fuel.

School supplies are shown here, and photographic

Equipment can be bought from several of our merchants.

Really, for automobiles, you'll find what you want here.

So, for any day of the year, from birth through death, we have what you need in our ad section.
